

online / on demand

history

paperHOST is a web-based, on-line, full-service, document management solution provider. But for organizations that need to maintain strict controls over access to their documents, paperHOST is the answer. Fast, secure on-demand, hosted solutions for agile organizations that want to leverage their valuable document assets.

The paperHOST model for web-based document management was launched in June of 2000 after a decade of selling and supporting big in-house imaging systems for our customers. After perfecting our craft, we now focus all of our energy on making paperHOST as feature-rich and powerful as any in-house solution. We are able to spread that cost over our entire client base making paperHOST a more cost-effective way for our clients to meet their security goals while providing their employees and customers with a fast and versatile way to access documents.

With 25+ years of experience, paperHOST leads the outsourced document management industry. We allow companies to remain focused on their own core competencies instead of building complex, capital intensive in-house alternatives.

paperHOST clients understand the benefits of off-loading their document management and document hosting requirements to a company that is driven to deliver a fast, reliable and secure online platform for the management of their mission-critical business documents.

Before investing thousands of dollars in scanners, servers, software and support – consider joining the growing family of companies that now enjoy the savings and the flexibility of web-based document management and document hosting while preserving working capital.
